NOTES TO THE SEPARATE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

6. OTHER INFORMATION

6.1 Financial instruments

6.1.1 Types of financial instruments

The details of the significant accounting policies and methods applied by the Corporation (including the criteria for recognition, the basis for determining value, and the basis for recognizing income and expenses) for each type of financial asset, liability, and equity instrument are presented in Note 3.13 "Financial instruments."

The Corporation has not assessed the fair value of financial assets and liabilities as at the balance sheet date, as Circular 210 and other relevant prevailing regulations do not provide comprehensive guidance on determining the fair value of these financial assets and liabilities. While Circular 210 refers to the application of International Financial Reporting Standards ("IFRS") on presentation and disclosures of financial instruments, it did not adopt the equivalent guidance for the recognition and measurement of financial instruments, including application of fair value, in accordance with IFRS.

6.1.2 Financial risk management objectives

The Corporation's financial liabilities primarily consist of accounts payable to suppliers, advances from customers, and other payables. The main purpose of these financial liabilities is to raise funds to serve the Corporation's operations. The Corporation also has trade receivables, prepayments to suppliers, other receivables, cash, deposits, and term deposits, all of which arise directly from its business activities.

In the course of its operations, the Corporation is exposed to market risk, credit risk, and liquidity risk. The Corporation does not implement hedging measures for these risks due to the absence of a market for financial instruments. The Board of Management reviews and agrees to apply the following risk management policies:

Market risk

Market risk is the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate due to changes in market prices. Market prices encompass three types of risks: interest rate risk, currency risk, and other price risks. The Corporation does not implement measures to hedge these risks due to the absence of a market for financial instruments.

Interest Rate Risk

Interest rate risk is the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate due to changes in market interest rates. During the period ended 30 June 2025, the Corporation was not exposed to significant interest rate risk since the majority of its financial assets and liabilities have fixed interest rates.

Foreign currency risk

Foreign currency risk refers to the potential fluctuations in the fair value or future cash flows of a financial instrument caused by changes in exchange rates. This risk primarily arises from the Corporation's operations, including certain expenses, revenues, and borrowings denominated in currencies other than its functional currency.

Credit risk

Credit risk arises when a customer or counterparty fails to fulfill their contractual obligations, leading to financial losses for the Corporation. The Corporation implements appropriate credit policies and regularly monitors its financial position to assess exposure to credit risk. As of the end of the reporting period, the Corporation identified and evaluated significant credit risks from customers and counterparties. Credit risk is partially reflected in the provision for doubtful debts, as detailed in Note 4.2, "Short-term Trade Receivables." To mitigate these risks, the Corporation enforces suitable credit policies, actively follows up on receivables, and implements solutions to recover outstanding amounts.

Liquidity Risk

Liquidity risk refers to the risk that the Corporation may encounter difficulties in fulfilling its financial obligations due to insufficient funds. The Corporation's liquidity risk primarily stems from the differing maturity profiles of its financial assets and liabilities.

To manage liquidity risk, the Corporation maintains an adequate level of cash, cash equivalents, and bank borrowings, as determined by the Board of Management, ensuring sufficient liquidity to meet operational needs and mitigate the impact of cash flow fluctuations. This strategy helps to reduce the Corporation's liquidity risk, which is currently assessed as low.
